FAMILY PROFILE:The Crosby Family

Anyone who knows Cynthia Crosby knows that she is a hard worker. A life-long resident of Charleston, Cynthia has worked at the Johns Island Piggly Wiggly as a meat wrapper for the past 26 years and thoroughly enjoys her work—except for the cold! In addition to her long-standing career at the Pig, Cynthia is also the proud mother of two daughters and grandmother of four girls. She currently lives with her sister-in-law on Johns Island and is looking forward to owning her first home.

“I am so excited to have my own house—it is a dream come true,” said Cynthia. “I will do whatever is needed to help build my house or anyone else’s. I am so thankful that I found Habitat.”

Cynthia was selected as a partner family in early 2010 and construction on her home began in June 2010. Her home will be located on the 48th lot in Brownswood Place.

Women Build 2010

The sound of hammers, power tools and hard work could be heard throughout Brownswood Place, as over 200 women helped to build a home for the Martinez Family as part of the SIHH's 10th Women Build Project. By the end of the week, many of the women had blisters, sore muscles and aching bodies, but EVERYONE was ready to do it again next year!

"The teamwork and the esprit de corps are great," said Louise Lancaster of Johns Island. "We are working together to accomplish something meaningful."

SIHH was fortunate enough to receive support from several key organizations (such as Lowe's) and individuals which made this year's Women Build possible. Construction on the Martinez home continues, and we hope to have the home completed by late fall. Thank you to all the donors, volunteers and supporters who made this year's build a reality!

Maribel Martinez (R) working with Women Build volunteers on her home.

GREEN BUILDING

Sea Island Habitat wants to ensure that our houses are not only priced reasonably, but also socially and environmentally responsible. All new SIHH homes are constructed using techniques outlined by EarthCraft and Energy Star, which cover site planning, energy efficiency, sustainable materials, and indoor air quality.

In FY 2009-10, SIHH built 10 qualified Energy Star homes, which is equivalent to

- Eliminating the emissions from 4.9 vehicles
- Saving 29,640 lbs of coal
- Planting 8.1 acres of trees
- Saving homeowners $5,364 on their utility bills

This spring, we took our green building practices to the next level with the Women Build home, by adding additional green features such as a high SEER HVAC unit, fiber cement siding and spray foam insulation to further reduce homeowner expenses. We hope to incorporate even more green features for future builds.
